Statement of Beneficiary Claim to Benefits

For Your Information

- Funds due to you as a beneficiary may represent taxable income. You must provide The Standard with instructions for the withholding of taxes by completing IRS form W-4P (or form 5031).
- Where required, be sure to include IRS form W-9 (or form 5031). Payment cannot be made without a correct Social Security number or tax identification number.
- Sign your name exactly as it is indicated on the beneficiary designation of the policy. If it has changed, sign a second time using your current name.

Common Scenarios

- Estate Named as Beneficiary: When the proceeds are payable to an estate, this statement must be completed and signed by the personal representative (executor or administrator) of the estate. A certified copy of Letters of Testamentary or Letters of Administration must be attached and submitted with this statement. Proceeds must be distributed to the estate in a single, lump-sum payment.
- Minor Named as Beneficiary: When the proceeds are payable to a minor, this statement must be signed by the minor's guardian or the parent having custody and care of the minor. The Standard will indicate if guardianship papers or an affidavit is required.
- Deceased Beneficiary: The beneficiary must survive the decedent by at least 15 days in order to be entitled to receive proceeds. If a deceased beneficiary is entitled to the proceeds (e.g. survived the decedent by at least 15 days), then a copy of the death certificate for that beneficiary must be attached and submitted with this statement.
- Inter Vivos Trust: When the proceeds are payable to the trustees of an inter vivos trust, this statement must be signed by the trustee. A certified copy of the trust must be attached and submitted with this statement.
- Testamentary Trust: When the proceeds are payable to the trustee named in the annuitant's will, this statement must be signed by the trustee. A certified copy of the will (or other instrument creating the trust) must be attached and submitted with this statement.
